American activity and restless enterprise have never had such a guage before, and the contest will arouse the mettle of the American people as it has never yet been aroused. Piles of idle money will add a powerful stimulus to this movement, and prosperity will, it would seem, be regained, not by a sudden bound, but by rapid strides. All of the elements of presperity are at hand; the implements for its acquisition are perfected as they have never been before, and two or three years is a longer period than is necessary for the return of good times so it seems to us.

CANDIDATES FOR THE CITY COUNCIL.

There continues to be much talk of a so-called citizens movement, and we COURIER concerning Bank once more urge upon the republican party, for its own protection and for the good of the city, to make a special effort k and its officers when he knew this spring and nominate, for the city council, men who are known to be specially fitted for this important position.

It looks very much at the present time as though the nominees would be of the same stripe as heretofore, men who have pulls as politicians, but who have not much standing as business men; men who think several times of their own interests every time they think once of the welfare of the city.

The office of councilman is by far the most important in the city, and too much care cannot be taken in the selection of

> IT is a little too early yet to pass judgment on the effect of Mayor Weir s moral crusade. It will take several weeks to determine whether his effort to purify the city will be successful to the extent anticipated by the most hopeful of the mayor's friends and advisers. What ever may be the outcome the mayor cannot contend that he has been hindered in his course by the newspapers. The latter have rendered him every possible assistance, and have made his work much easier than it otherwise would have been.

In December, January and February there was just one business failure in Lincoln, and that was comparatively insignificant, and the business will, no doubt, be adjusted in such a manner that the proprietor can shortly resume operations on his own account. Lincoln, from the first stages of the depression, has done exceedingly well, and it is keeping up the record.
